GERMANS WILL BACK GOVERNMENT

SOLDIERS', WORKMEN'S AND PEASANTS' COUNCILS ADOPT RESOLUTION TO BACK PRESENT GOVERNMENT.

General Ludendorff, Actual Directing Head of German Army, Has Left Germany for Sweden.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Berlin, Nov. 26.—A meeting of soldiers, workmen and peasants' councils representing Bremen, Hanover, Hamm, Oldenburg, Flensburg, Osnabrück, Wilhelmshaven and a number of smaller places in the provinces of Lower Saxony and Schleswig-Holstein adopted a resolution declaring that those councils would stand behind the present government and demand the convocation of a national assembly.

The resolution was adopted by a vote of 81 to 26. There also was a crushing defeat for the extremists at a meeting representing the tenth army corps at Hanover, whereby a vote of 140 to 4, a resolution was adopted against efforts to establish a dictatorship and demanding the summoning of a constituent assembly.

Reports of Strength.

Reports of tests of strength between the conservative elements and the independent and Bolshevik Socialists in various parts of Germany continue to indicate that far as mere numbers go the extremists are almost negligible.

The election of soldiers and workmen's council in Dresden on Sunday show that the extremists polled only 4,300 votes against 56,400 for the old socialists. Both groups of independents won only three or four seats in the council of fifty.

Further reports from Dresden that the movement in the coast cities already turned into a more conservative channel.

Ludendorff Leaves.

Copenhagen, Nov. 26.—General Ludendorff, reputed to have been long the actual directing head of Germany's military affairs, left German soil, according to the Frankfurt Gazette. It says he has left Sassenitz, Prussia, for Sweden. His titular position in the German military system was that of first quartermaster general.

Soldiers in Berlin.

Soldiers from the front are beginning to arrive in Berlin and men who have converged with them express themselves optimistically as to the result of their arrival as regards its effect upon the preservation of order. These men declare that the great bulk of the soldiers reject Bolshevikism in all its phases.

Flag Reappear.

It also may perhaps be considered an indication of the general public's faith in the conservatism of the soldiers that the German and Prussian flags are beginning to reappear over all Berlin after having made way for the red flag since November 10. Only in one of the suburbs was only objection raised to the flying of the national flags.

Certain elements there tore the普鲁士 banners from the street cars. Elsewhere the emblems were not disturbed.

Addresses Conference.

Copenhagen.—Chancellor Ebert is reported in a dispatch from the semi-official Wolff Bureau of Berlin as having addressed yesterday a conference of about seventy delegates from various parts of Germany, who gathered at the chancellor's palace and to have had no cooperation from throughout the former empire in dealing with the present situation. The conference included a few former diplomats, a number of widely known deputies who now taking part in the government of the various states and also several members, some of whom were soldiers or sailors.

The cabinet would on Tuesday, said Dr. Ebert, considerable reflection of a national assembly but provisional arrangements must be immediately made for the government of the federated empire.

Situation Threatening.

Dr. Sof, the minister of foreign affairs declared the situation was extremely threatening, owing both to the enemy's will to destroy Germany and the separatist movements in that country.

Karl Fischer, the Bavarian socialist leader, protested sharply that both Dr. Ebert and Dr. Sof were compromised by being representatives of the old regime.

Adopt Program.

London.—The German government has adopted the program framed by Dr. Albert Ballin, director of the Hamburg-American line and the ship owners' unions binding Germany to the allies at fixed prices in return for which Germany will retain her merchant fleet, says a dispatch to Daily Express from Amsterdam.

Brussels, Nov. 26.—Belgium must leave the left bank of the Scheldt, and this demand should be made at the peace conference, it is agreed by all political parties in Belgium. The correspondent has talked with many diplomats, ministers and members of parliament, and they all agree on Belgian demands.

Some extremists say that Belgium's action frontier in the east is the left bank of the Rhine.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN CONSTANTINOPLE

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Constantinople, Nov. 26.—There were fifty British, French and Italian battle ships, cruisers and destroyers in the allied squadron which anchored Nov. 18 in the Bosphorus. The newspapers and the population acclaim the allied squadron as deliverers.

The headquarters of the British and French contingents have been established in Constantinople. A British aerial force was in outskirts of the city.

Food prices in Constantinople, according to the Turkish finance minister, have risen twenty times above those ruling before the war. Disorganization of the railroads in Asia Minor today compelled the government to abandon the ration of cheap bread which it issued during the war.

Of the fifty-nine officers and men who have remained with the United States gunboat Scorpion in the Golden Horn since diplomatic relations were severed, twenty-five married Levantine women.

Nearly all the American missions except those in Constantinople and Smyrna have been occupied by the Turkish army notwithstanding that all have been engaged in relief work.

The Americans' educational and relief work in Turkey all are reported well.

According to the report of the delivery of the ultimatum to Serbia was delayed until after President Poincaré and Premier Viviani of France had gone to St. Petersburg, which would make it difficult for the entente nations to arrive at an understanding and take joint measures.

Count von Lerschinski said that more Germans and Austrians, including General Liman von Sanders, German commander in the Turkish army, fled from Damascus and Aleppo in Constantinople, and the neighborhood. Their exodus across the Black Sea has been cut off by the Russians and by disorders in Odessa.

Among the members of the new Turkish cabinet headed by Tewfik Pasha, is Dr. Riza Tewfik, an instructor in the American college for girls in Constantinople.

CITY OF MADISON MAY PURCHASE CAR SYSTEM

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison, Wis., Nov. 25.—Madison is planning the purchase of the street railway system. A committee of the council has been appointed to investigate and report. If the common council takes such action this will be the first city in the state to own its car lines.

The action has been precipitated by the increase in street car fares to six cents and by the refusal of all street railway companies to allow all street car drivers to be railroad commission agents.

The fight for municipal purchase is being led by City Attorney William Rynn. He also points out that although the law requires stoves to be in cars by Oct. 15, not a stove had been installed up to Nov. 23.

On the latter date the railroad commission as asked by Ryan to compel the installation of stoves or to ask for the $60 daily penalty. City Attorney Ryan is critical of the six cent fare decision and the fight has become so hot that one newspaper is out asking that the railroad commission be made elective to make it more responsible to the public.

"It is not likely that any relief can be had from the effect of the decision by recourse to the courts; the right of the court to review decisions of the commission is very limited," says Mr. Ryan reporting to the council on the six cent fare.

It is unfortunate for the City of Madison that present conditions seemingly require the imposition of a six cent fare. What Madison needs most of all is cheap transportation from the center of the city outwards in order that suburban property will be developed and so that we may get rid of the condition of the city and thereby put a stop to the increase of four-decker apartment buildings which all housing authorities decry. It is and has been the policy of the Madison Railways company to make extensions only when assured that the population of the territory to be served by the extension is sufficient to warrant the expense of paying proposition from the start. In other words, it does not help in any way in the development of the city.

The Madison Railways company has also paid very little attention to the orders of the commission with respect to service. It has on more than one occasion deliberately changed car schedules to a fifteen-minute schedule on certain portions of its line and it persistently fails to comply with the order of the commission to run its West Main-Wisconsin cars midway between the Fair Oaks-Wisconsin Park cars but usually runs them so they travel one after the other.

"It is not that I am unable to expect any solution of the street railway problem in the city of Madison under existing conditions. The successful operation of the water works plant by the city during its history leads me to suggest that we should carefully consider the question as to whether it is not advisable for the city corporation to look towards the future to own and operate the street railway system in this city. I feel that this subject is worthy of careful consideration."

STEAMER HENRY FORD SHATTERS ALL RECORDS

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 26.—The steamer Henry Ford yesterday broke the record for the Duluth-Superior harbor and for the Great Lakes by taking a cargo of 480,000 bushels of wheat aboard for lower lakes. The former record, 460,000 bushels, was established by the steamer Kossuth, the Kossuth.

The steamer Dalton might have equalled the Ford had there been enough water in her hold. A total of 470,000 bushels had been loaded when it was found that the Dalton was touching bottom.

URGES NATIONS TO AID RUINED RUSSIA

Sir George Buchanan.

"Russia cannot emerge from the chaos into which the war and revolution have plunged her without foreign assistance—from the allies," said Sir George Buchanan, recently in a speech before the British-Russian club in London. Sir George had ample opportunity to study the situation as ambassador to Russia. "We must be prepared to supply her when the proper moment comes with expert advice, with capital and with all the machinery necessary to start her agriculture more productive and we must endeavor to revive her export trade," he said.

COMMUNICATION MUST BE SIGNED IS RULE

Frequently very worthy communications on timely subjects are receiving at the Gazette office for publication in the Voice of the People column.

It is required they be signed and written on one side of the paper only.

One on the wages paid working girls and the fact that some employers docked the wages of their employes on Liberty Day, comes under this head.

Another communication received and not published had to do with the soliciting funds for the Sanctuary Army for humanitarian purposes for boys in France. Late all other war activities the Salvation Army is included in the general appropriation that was taken care of by the War Cheat Fund of the county during "Your Share Is Fair" campaign and further contributions are not needed and only an added burden upon those asked to contribute.

The last communication received was from the Chamber of Commerce of the city.

It was suggested be held at her late home, 499 Milton avenue, Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. The services will be conducted by Rev. R.
G. Person.

WE HEARD FROM OUR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

Frank Schmitz
Playing some sparing time on my hands I'll drop a few lines to let you know that we're not forgotten you. If you gets out of this game whole you'll be able to do almost anything, the last few months I've had many experiences and sensations. The most painful sensation is that of being sick. Was sick for about three days, but I never fed the fishes, for fast eating, but I came very near it. We are disagreeable weathered all the way but we made the best of it. The only thing to make the most satisfying for the most is yet to come. We stayed at a couple of rest camps in England and had a ten-hour cross-country trip on a first class passenger train. The villages, farms and country as a whole are very nice, so busy, noisy that they wake us up, let us sleep, so we are now in a different billet. The men are allowed to drink wine and there have been quite a few 'sleek boys.' Last Monday we hiked to Etosha. We were shown through two cathedrals and a chateau. One of the cathedrals bears the bullock's head on the scepter in which the Huguenots and Catholics were engaged. The chateau was the one in which Louis XIV, Catherine de Medicis and other nobles lived, dined and some of them murdered. We saw the room in which the Duke of Guise was murdered and his brother burned to death. The chateau is one mass of stone and there are thousands of carvings inside and outside, about 100 rooms in all. Yesterday we hiked to a neighboring town and our football team played the signal corps team at that place. Our team was beaten, 3 to 0, as this was the first time our team was in action. We are doing infantry guard duty. I get a crack at it every week. Most of our time at present is occupied with drilling, games, practicals and hikes. We are now having the rainy season and it is pretty disagreeable. Our chow is pretty good. There is not much variety, but what we do get is nourishing, and we get plenty. There seem to be quite a few bickerings about peace, but doubt if anything comes of it. I am not too anxious about peace which we got for a nickel. I hope the war will let go through. I guess I'll have to close as I've got to get up at 4 a.m. tomorrow to go on a hike which starts at 6:20. Remember me to the fellows. With best regards,

RECORD PRICE PAID FOR FINE BREED BOAR

J. W. Parker, living east of the city and known as a breeder of registered swine, has sold his grand champion, Lord Boar, King Orion, to J. W. Brooks & Son, Eagleview, Mo., for the record-breaking price of $2,500. This price no doubt seems reasonable to many for "just a hog," but it has taken just as much time and scientific breeding as any dog or cat. Orion, individuality, by the way it does to produce some of the finest horses of the turf. For the last six generations the animals that appear in his pedigree have been consistent winners and producers of winners. The sum of $5,000 was paid last year for the sire of Orion. Only $1,000 was refused for him.

Percy Usher and family and Miss Bertha Alcyon motored to Edgerton recently and spent a day with relatives in picking out a pig that can develop into such a phenomenal boar. He purchased this boar when a pig just a few months old for $35. He developed him and showed him at the Illinois and Wisconsin state fairs where he became the grand champion. He since has won several winners at the state fair this year, and was responsible for Mr. Parker's record breaking sow sale last winter when he sold forty head for an average of $100. Mr. Parker has retained many of the daughters of King Orion and feels he could afford to let him go and try his hand again on another pig. The value of a good sire cannot be counted in dollars and cents.

With J. E. Kennedy, the owner of imported Balmegeen Gypsy Lad, the chestnut Shorthorn bull, imported to America in 1916, Parker, the seller of the highest priced race-day team ever sold in the northeast, Canseville will soon be looked upon as headquarters for high class breeding stock.

CONGRESS' OPPORTUNITY.

Congress already is beginning to lay lines to start inquiry into some of the failures charged up to divisions of the war department.The ordinance department is accused of falling down in its attempt to deliver sufficient ammunition and guns to supply General Pershing and his army in their battles with the Huns at the most critical period of the struggle.Although $4,837,044,550 was apportioned for ammunition and facilities up to Sept. 24, 1918, but few guns
a small number of shells, reckoning
the number which were needed to carry on the attack, were sentFrance. A statement is made that not only a department fell to ship gunnals to France when needed; but statements as to shipments of what had been deceptive, stated that big ten-inch guns not laying around in various parts of France for months waiting which never arrived.Freshing, according to declaration coming out of Washington, frantic appeals for guns and ammunition early in November and of response from the ordinance department, demanded that action be taken immediately
as soon as opportunity to apply the whitewash brush or some one pay dearly.

A BILLION DOLLARS.

We have talked so glibly of money
by the billions, mere millions did not count, a few hundred thousand were worthless and as far as thousands, why they were no hundreds a few years ago, and the hundreds like dollars and cents. These war drives with the immensity of the sum total needed
have not really been given due consideration as to the immensity of the entire sum handled. We have raised billions of dollars by Liberty Loan drives. Still did you ever stop to consider what even one billion meant?
Take a pencil and paper and put down this. That is the present year as reckoned from the birth of Christ.
Multiply that by twelve to obtain the number of months and you find 28,016. Then average thirty days to the month and you find you have 840 days. Each day has twenty-four hours, multiply that by twenty-four and you find you have 16,574.
52 hours. Now each hour has sixty minutes, and the multiplication is 964,291,264. Have you digested that?
Then stop and figure that if you had had aside one silver dollar for every minute since the birth of Christ to the present time you would not have even one billion dollars saved up, and when our Liberty Loans call for four or six or nine billions think what it means and how long it would take to secure it at a dollar per minute.

NOT PHILANTHROPIC.

All this talk about our having to feed Europe is not purely a philanthropic proposition after all. It is a plain businesslike suggestion, that we prepare to feed and supply the starving nations of Europe. The only question is that the product will keep the poorest and the average American consumer will pay the bill as he usually does. The old-fashioned breakfast of bacon and eggs is almost prohibitive. Toast and coffee is a luxury. An orange and a bit of a roll and a pot of coffee, with an allowance of sugar and cream, forms a pretty figure. When you take a silver dollar and go out and try to buy a dozen fresh eggs and a pound of butter
you have to add a nickel or a dime more to the sum total, then you realize what it means.Still in this reconstruction process we must help Europe. We went into this war for humanitarian reasons, not seeking indemnity, but simply to add the weight of the American dollars and the American fighting men to the great cause of making this world safe for democracy. No one who has denied themselves these past months
since war was declared, to buy Liberty bonds or Thrift stamps will object to a few months more of self-denial providing there is no maniacal sympathy for the people who actually brought this awful condition of affairs that makes this sacrifice necessary.Now we are not going into this reconstruction work from a philanthropic point of view alone, but from something more. As an eastern exchange says: "The banker, merchant, farmer and wage-earner have a deep interest in this work. These countries are consumers of the products of our farms and factories. Unless rehabilitated
so that they can buy our goods,
our producers and wage-earners must suffer the consequences. A rich and prosperous Europe, not a bankrupt
one, will add to our material welfare."There are many different steps to be taken in this work, all important in their way. One that is particularly urgent is to restore European agriculture. Of prime importance in this work is the building up of the docks and herds of livestock.
France has lost 17 per cent of its cattle,
40 per cent of its sheep and goats,
37 per cent of its horses and mules, and 49 per cent of its swine. Great Britain and Italy have suffered heavily,
but not to the same extent; while in Belgium domestic animals are almost legendary.With the loss in livestock there came a growing dependence upon the United States for meat and fats. In the three years before the war, the exports from this country of beef, pork and dairy products averaged 10,680,000 pounds per annum. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1918, the exportation of these same commodities amounted to 2,847,697,000 pounds.
The demand is on the increase; the exports for the first three months of the current year amount to $47,177,- 000 pounds, an increase of fifty percent over last year's monthly average.
Plainly, the greatest need is for livestock. This is also the one that will continue the longest. We cannot spare breeding animals in sufficient numbers to re-establish the industry in Europe. The only sure and common sense way is by increased production here and converting our corn and other feeds into the finished article for shipment abroad. This must be done in such volume as to allow the farmers of the allied countries
time to build up their depleted herds without drawing upon them to an undue extent for necessary food supplies.
Here is a hint for the American farmer, as well as the country banks and other institutions which deal direct with him. It is a way by which we can help Europe and profit by it ourselves."

THE FOURTH WAR.

Have you stopped to think that this is the fourth war for freedom that the men of the present United States have waged for liberty? Hon. D.
Cady Hurlick, in Leslie's Weekly, suggests the thought when he says:"This is the fourth war we have engaged in for freedom and liberty. Our first, in 1776, for liberty and the right to participate in the making and execution of the laws by which we were to be governed; the second, in 1812,
for the freedom of the seas; the third in 1861, for the emancipation of a subject race in our own midst; and now the fourth—we are fighting not only for our own protection in the future, to save our children, and our children's children, from fighting to preserve their birthright, but also to give all peoples, great and small, the right of self-government, and protection from predatory power and national bandits. And this war we will fight to a finish—a victorious finish; a finish not by negotiation, but by an unconditional surrender."

THE THANKSGIVING SPIRIT.

For a great many years the American people have appointed an annual Thanksgiving day, the purpose of which was to render thanks to God for His great blessings. As we look back on the comparatively lavish and easy going times of the past, we now realize what our blessings were.Our people were at liberty to go their own ways, with no call to arms
to break up their families and businesses, and no warfare to devastate homes. There was an abundance of food. We had all the blessings of free government provided by the sacrifices of our fathers and no one had to risk even a cold in the head to preserve them. The great majority of us never thanked anyone for it, never breathed a prayer of gratitude.We made the national Thanksgiving day merely a day of feasting, when most people ate much more than was good for them."Then all at once the bottom dropped out of our life. We discovered that these blessings are not indefinitely provided without effort on the part of the Boches, who are

the right to recover all the vast quantity of food which they sunk to the bottom of the ocean.

However, we freely give the Boches

the right to recover all the vast quantity of food which they sunk to the bottom of the ocean.So far as heard from, no insurance agent has called on Bill to get the contract to insure his life.

Food cards will be next in our intrinsic scheme of existence, if present plans hit on all twelve cylinders in perfect rotation and rhythm, which will, in a manner of speaking, put a crimp in the old nose bag.Food cards are in use in England, and they cause distress to only one class of people—those who read the comic "The Bits." It seems when food cards came out several persons tried to eat them, don't you know, thinking from the name that was what they were for—haw-haw—and all that tommyrot.A food card really should be taken seriously, for it is a serious institution and one learns this when he goes on a trip without one and has nothing to eat but his words. But certain family agreements may be made which relieve the difficulties. If you are fond of meat, have a mother-in law who is a vegetarian and use her meat card. Take good care of this mother-in-law and don't let her go and live with anybody else.It is also wise precaution to raise all the children to be vegetarians.
Their meat cards will help keep father going. Summing up the entire situation,
if people stick to the food cards,
they will not eat more than twice as much as is good for them, and a lot of indigestion and gout specialists will have to go out of business.The food card, long may it wave.
"Avid crowds," yell a flu expert,
"but it is all right to go to the theater."

Hail Sand Drifts With Grass Tufts.

Sand is used for railroad embankments in many parts of Holland, but much repair to the roadbed was made necessary by the fact that the freshly piled sand drifted during the high winds. To prevent this, tufts of coarse grass have been planted along the slopes, and as the roots spread, a well-rooted bank is formed.—Popular Me-

CITIZENS RESPOND TO APPEAL FOR "Y" COTS

Many citizens responded to the appeal of the Y. M. C. A. for cot to be used to care for the soldiers who will return from Camp Grant and before the men begin to arrive it is thought that sufficient will have been obtained to provide lodging for all those who apply at the building.

Announcement has been made that discharge of soldiers will not begin until after Thanksgiving, with the exception of members of the Officers' training camp. However, it is expected that that beginning early next week, the soldiers will start. It was also stated that leaves would not be granted to enlisted men over the holiday.

The original plans for the care of the soldiers will be worked out by the Y. M. C. A. in anticipation of their release next week, and those who have coats, mattresses and bed covers which can be used are requested to get in touch with the Y. M. C. A.

PRESENT COMPANY G. WITH AMERICAN FLAG

WOMEN'S RELIEF CORPS PRESENT STATE GUARD COMPANY WITH NATIONAL EMBLEM
—MRS. GLENN GIVES ADDRESS.

PICTURE OF PERSHING

E. C. Stewart of Brodhead Gives Company G a Painting of General John Pershing.

A beautiful American flag was presented to Company G, Wisconsin State Guards, by the Woman's Relief Corps last evening. The presentation speech was made by Mrs. Glenn, who presented the flag to Captain E. C. Baumann, commanding Company G.

Members of Company G were then given a second surprise when their picture was taken with the large painting of General John Pershing. The donor is E. C. Stewart of Brodhead, and the painting is the work of an old army veteran seventy-six years of age.

After the ceremonies and a snappy drill which lasted an hour, the members of the company and their friends enjoyed their first dancing party of the season.

Colonel Baumann stated this morning that the painting received from E. C. Stewart was the property of Company G until the return of Company M, when it is to be given to the brave boys who have fought in France.

Mrs. Glenn, in presenting the flag to Captain Baumann and his company, said in part:

Captain Baumann and men of the Home Guards: I read in the Gazette some time ago that an important speech was to be made here tonight and I expected something pretty good, but didn't know who was to make it. I found out today, it was you. I changed my mind. Had I known in time to prepare a speech I might have come out like the Irishman who was invited to give an address at a high-toned banquet. He had prepared for weeks, and had an elaborate speech committed to memory. When he got up there, he began to speak and gentlemen in the audience said, "Well, we have lots of work and we must not fall down now that peace is just dawning."

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am an orphan girl and have always had a hard time of it. In school the teachers always nagged at me. I could not get my lessons. The school children all made fun of me until it drove me into a nervous breakdown and have been nervous ever since. I have been sick for the last twelve years until I am just miserable. My sister loves me well, though, and she people all liked me, but of course I came out all right and she sees her mistake, but it has turned me against her.

I have got into the habit of thinking about my past life until it makes my face have a mean expression. Please tell me some way to forget my troubles or I will go wild.

WORRIED.

You must stop worrying about yourself and think more of making other people happy. Life is very good to you. It returns for what we put into it. You have been sick so long that you have got into the very habit of feeling sorry for yourself. Try loving people for a change, love your sister and see how quickly she responds. The trouble you and she had was not one-sided—it was partly your fault. Love and smiles will soon blot out the disagreeable expression.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I used to go with a fellow who was certainly fine to me in every respect. He was also very much admired by everyone he used to take me auto riding al-

THE COLOR OF EYES.

The eyes of youth are blue-black, brown-gray-violet in color and deep as the sea. When registering under the draft I was flattered to learn that I had brown hair—flattered, in fact, to learn that I had any hair because, when I got up to the time I could have sworn they were grey-blue-green.

The color of eyes is a matter of the relative quantity of pigment in the iris, which is the focusing diaphragm or muscle that surrounds the black pupil. If there is much pigment the eyes are dark brown, black, or blackish brown; if still less, they are grey; if still less, they are blue; if almost none at all, they are albino eyes.

All babies are born blue-eyed, and the color changes of the eyes commence at about the sixth week.

The popular idea that dark-colored eyes are more likely to turn gray in advanced age or even brown.

If both parents are blue-eyed all the children will be blue-eyed.

If one parent is blue-eyed and the other has darker eyes about half the children will be blue-eyed and the other half will have darker eyes.

If both parents are brown-eyed all the children will be brown-eyed or three-fourths of the children will be brown-eyed and one-fourth blue-eyed.

The bluish tint of the sclerotic (the white of the eye) noted in certain individuals is generally due to anemia.

The same tint, not yellow, of the sclerotic often described as "liver trouble" is usually not jaundice but an effect of simple congestion or low-grade inflammation of the conjunctive (the mucous membrane which lines the lids and in part covers the eyeball).

Redness of the eyes is of course a symptom of one or another inflammation but often depends upon trouble in the nasal cavity and cannot be overcome until the nasal condition is determined and relieved.

A red blotch on the ball of the eye often appears in the course of whooping cough. It is painless, but always disappears after a few weeks without injuring the eyesight.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Yeast Wise

Some time ago you advised taking yeast tablets or liniments of the face. As I heard of a girl who gained twelve pounds while taking yeast cakes for pimples, I did not follow your advice (Miss Eileen). All right, Miss Violet, I will forgive you. But I'll bet that fat girl wishes she had her old pimples back now, eh?

Poor Old Tonsils

The doctor who examined me two years ago said my tonsils were very large but that he would not advise cutting them out. But a young cousin of mine, aged 12, had a habit of forgoing his tonsil operations, and after his tonsils were removed he changed wonderfully in school work, and we always believed it was because the tonsils had been the cause. I have no sore throat or colds, but my memory is not at all good, and don't you think it would be wise to remove the tonsils? Of course, I understand that the removal of the voice is bad condition and it is very dangerous to have such an operation performed this time of year, but if you advise it believe I shall have it done (OK E. 1).

ANSWER—No, I advise you to keep your tonsils until there is good reason to believe they are causing you trouble. They have nothing to do with health. They have nothing to do with memory. It is quite as safe to have such an operation now as at any other time of the year. Many times, however, a tonsil often injures the voice, but an operation on the tonsils does not occur.

"You have met them," I thundered in the tones of a judge, "and you need not ask about the result of the experiment, because you are going to try it yourself."

A burst of applause greeted me from the stage.

"Eating three meals a day is a habit," I quoted. "We have made tyrants of our stomachs. They demand to be fed every so often, and if we answer that demand we are slaves."

Lipton S. Clair groaned.

I explained how we had sent out supplies and cook away so that we should not be tempted.

"And when do you expect to receive more supplies?" he inquired.

"You were on the boat which was bringing the groceries," I informed him.

"Then they are out there in the lake?"

I nodded. He rushed out.

"Where are you going?" Kent yelled.

"To save some of those groceries," said the distinguished author.

This was such a wonderful idea that we all followed him, Kent, more thoughtful than the rest, pausing to get a clothesline from the shed.

It was still too rough to go out to where the Mary Bell had gone down even if we had possessed a boat, but boxes and crates of groceries, fruits and vegetables were still streaming past the leeward point of the cove.

We spent two hours trying to lasso these packages. Only one threw netted us anything, and when we had opened the case we towed in we found three dozen boxes of wet matches.

"How soon can I get away?" Clair asked Captain Perkins as we struggled up the path.

"That son out there," mused the captain, "don't look like it had any intention of quitting for a couple of days anyhow, so just set."

"Stay here?"

"You guessed it." Captain walked on in silence for a moment; then he voiced his thoughts thus: "I believe I can make copy out of this experience. I'll be a second Robinson Crusoe."

"Pears to me," debated the captain, "that you got an awful lot of society for a Robinson Crusoe. Seems like I recollect this fellow Crusoe had only one bigger to wait on him."

"It's man Friday," interpolated Bopp.

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $2. and have a better remedy than the ready-made kind. Easily done.

If you combined the curative properties of every known homely-made cough remedy, you probably could not get much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Cut from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar, or the familiar molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives most immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore irritated membranes to gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma, that is nothing better.

It is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded.

PETEY DINK—PETEY WASN'T THINKING OF STARS OF THAT KIN D.

"That's the ode. If you don't count the women and the dog there's six human souls on this island."

"That won't make any difference," I came to the rescue. "Every first class Uncle Tom's Cabin show nowadays has two Topsy's and two Little Evans at least. We'll have one Robinson Crusoe and five Fridays."

"That's a good idea," assented Clair, enthusiastically following up the scheme with details. "I'll get a car, and whenever I want anything I'll ring for you."

"Fine," agreed Bopp, who began to see possibilities in the scheme. "We'll get you a lot of musical bells, so that the ringing won't annoy us any if you keep it up for some time."

"Maybe I could rig up an electric chime," Kent suggested, with an eye to mechanical details of which he alone was master. "We'd each have to have a number and only answer our own note on the chime. For instance, 'do' would call for the glock who was Friday No. 1. That would be the captain here."

"Let me be Friday the thirteenth," Bopp continued, "and Jim, the galley mechanic, can be Black Friday. Kent, you're Good Friday—you get a hot cross bun. What shall I baptize you, Monty? I can't think of any more Fridays."

"Let me be Ash Wednesday. I don't care much for fish anyway."

By this time we had reached the living room.

Lucile greeted us downstairs in the living room.

"Miss Dunmore is waiting for you," I looked around to see whom she was addressing.

"I mean you, Mr. Blainey."

"Who is Miss Dunmore?"

"The lady whose life you saved. Do you mean to say that you didn't recognize her with those—things on?"

"I don't know what you mean."

"That's right," said Bopp. "No matter what you say we'll all of us agree that it's true. We men must stick together. Monty never saw the lady before."

This was especially despicable on the part of Bopp, as he knew as well as I did that the telegram had been for the other Blainey whom Clair had spoken of.

"How about this, then?" inquired Lucile sweetly, handing me a clump newspaper clipping. "She had that in her hand all the time."

I looked at it in amazement. It was my own criticism of a production of "As You Like It" which had been staged the week before. One paragraph was marked with a blue pencil and read as follows:

The fashionable audience which assembled to see Miss Langland as Rosalind was obviously disappointed when the management announced that Miss Langland was indisposed and that her understudy would play the part. After offering a hearty round of applause, the audience adjourned to the bar.

"I wish I could see dear Uncle Lucky," said Billy Bunny, "but I have to wait until springtime comes and the ice goes off. And then he swam over to the bank, where he had another hiding place under the roots of the Old Chestnut Tree, where Old Barney the Owl lived upstairs in his little wooden house. And wasn't it strange! Mister Muskrat never noticed the nest bit, although he swam in the water. You see, his thick fur overcoat is waterproof."

"We haven't many friends to see in the winter time," said Uncle Lucky.

"Tunney Chipmunk is fast asleep in his little warm house, and so is Woody Chuck."

And Uncle Bullfrog and Tommy Turtle are swimming away in the soft mud at the bottom of the Old Mill Pond," sighed little Billy Bunny.

"I shall be so glad when the warm weather comes again, for we have more friends in summer, don't we?"

"And just then who should pop out of the hole little brown rabbit, the little rabbit by this time, was in the Pleasant Meadow, but Danny Meadow Mouse. He isn't afraid of little rabbits, you know, nor squirrels and chipmunks. But fat little Danny Meadow Mouse always keeps his eyes open ready to pop back into his tunnel under the old log. Old Man Wenzel is skipping around or if Robber Hawk is flying in the sky or Toody Owl in the night time."

JANESEVILLE PLANS CHEERY CHRISTMAS

CITIZENS WILL SHOW THEIR JOY
AT TURN IN WAR BY MAKING
GENEROUS GIFTS THIS YEAR.

MERCHANTS READY

Purse Strings Will Be Loosened As Yuletide Draws Near—Varied Selections Found in Stores.

Uncle Sam has tilted the lid on Christmas gifts and prospects for the merriest, cheeriest Yuletide in the history of the nation are most bright.

Janesville and its environs are all set for the holiday season and merchants are preparing to trade which promises to be very much which has been experienced in years.

People who felt the burden of war either in a financial way or because of loved ones engaged in the great struggle, are going to celebrate the great victory which the boys in France have won.

Banks are filled with money; the old pocketbooks of the stock on the meeting are a store of greenbacks, and bulging pocketbooks which have remained closed against an emergency will be opened.

Business houses are preparing for a big rush and are ready to enter the spirit of the occasion when the crowds begin their attack on the counters. Most of them have been able to retain stock, which had been allowed to run low because of the order curtailing production of many commodities.

No sooner did the message that an armistice had been signed flash across the world than Janesville merchants began planning for a big holiday rush.

Although Christmas is not far off, nevertheless there is a small amount of attractive gifts for all. Novelties which for a time promised to be scarce have been arriving for the last few days and have been put on display. Useful and substantial gifts which attract the more thrifty are ready for the purchasers and the selection this year is greater than last.

At the order that the ban on Christmas gifts be lifted came the announcement that merchants could hire as much help as necessary, and already local business men are making arrangements for their corps of clerks to care for the rush which is bound to come when the holiday buying gets into full swing.

At the present houses urge, though, that shoppers take advantage of the early morning hours to do as much buying as possible so as to relieve clerks at the time of the general afternoon rush. They argue that most people fail to heed the request to shop early in the month, but most everyone is eager to make the duties of the clerks easier by early morning.

It is also pointed out that clerks can be more obliging when the work is not so heavy, and the purchasers can make their purchases with more satisfaction.

That the joy felt in this community is going to be expressed through generous giving is the belief of many merchants of the city. Following are some of the opinions of those who are preparing for the holiday trade.

W. P. Stiles, jeweler: "This is certainly going to be a cheerful Christmas. Everyone is brimming over with gladness. They are going to give generously because they are happy."

The news that peace is assured has filled them with a thankfulness which has touched the heart and they are going to show this thankfulness in a substantial way.

Seamus Hartwick, of J. M. Bostwick & Sons: "I believe we are going to have one of the happiest Christmases in the history of the city. Already people are beginning to buy their holiday goods and before the final rush is on, all will have caught the spirit of the season. We are in the center of the richest agricultural section in the world. Every one is prosperous and everyone's heart is filled with joy because of our great victory. The American people believe in showing their generosity in a substantial way and will make this Yuletide one to be remembered for many years."

Louis G. Levy, of the Golden Eagle store: "People are just awaiting their opportunity to show their joy at the turn of the war by celebrating Christmas to the utmost. Many folks who have stood back of the boys in France at a sacrifice to themselves are

Notch of Health

The spirit of the times demands perfect health and nerves, and keeping them up to the highest degree of efficiency.

American men and women have learned that it does not pay to rest or nerves to run down, and are quick to take advantage of Nature's greatest red blood and nerve tonic. Phosphated Iron will keep you strong, run you down, given you those restless nights, loss of appetite and indigestion, when you get up in the morning as tired as when you went to bed.

There is no reason why work may be there to tire you; work should only use the right amount of your energy. It is time to work on your nerves and forcing yourself to work when you strength runs you down, given you those restless nights, loss of appetite and indigestion, when you get up in the morning as tired as when you went to bed.

Whatever your work may be there is no reason why it should continue to tire you; work should only use the right amount of your energy. It is time to work on your nerves and forcing yourself to work when you strength runs you down, given you those restless nights, loss of appetite and indigestion, when you get up in the morning as tired as when you went to bed.

There is no sense in anyone being a victim of ill health, poor blood, over work, nerves or the blues when Phosphated Iron will afford such prompt and permanent relief.

All over the country men and women in every walk of life say that good health, strength and nerves from the use of Phosphated Iron, the red blood and nerve builder, and it will also put you on your feet, now. That is the last word that produces results that last, that's what counts, no "ifs" about it.

To insure physicians and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put in capsules and tablets. Do not take pills or tablets, insist on capsules.

going to open not only their hearts in joyful acclaim of victory but they are going to open their purse strings so that they may share their gladness by giving gifts. Those who have denied themselves necessities in many instances are going to make the holiday period a season for replenishing their wardrobes and for getting those luxuries which they have gone without."

George M. Neuner, manager T. E. Berner's: "We have been ready for 2 weeks for the biggest Christmas trade that we have ever anticipated. We are sure that the people will buy heavier than usual at this holiday season. They have plenty of money and they are elated over the victory won in France. They may cause for rejoicing by giving generously to the Yuletide. We hope that all will take advantage of the early morning hours to do their shopping so that the clerks will not be rushed in the later hours of the day."

MORRIS MILLER

The National commission will recommend to the big leagues next month that the player limit in both circuits be reduced to eighteen players.

The main idea of the moguls in proposing the cut, of course, is to reduce expenses so their profits will be larger.

But I really believe the public will take kindly to the change.

The reduction of the limit would have two major effects.

It would eliminate the specialists—the men who earn their money easily by sitting on the bench two-thirds of the time.

It would tend to end the practice of keeping young players on the bench for a season or two until they gain experience rather than part with the players.

The belief that specialists in different parts of the game are necessary to perform within an organization is a fallacy. I really believe that the moguls have known this but realized that the acquisition of certain specialists gave their teams publicity, especially at off times, and therefore maintained the high limits.

Frank Chafee and Fielder Jones won probably dozen years ago without any high-priced bench-warmers. Eighteen players were sufficient for them. The majority of fans, I believe, will say that the standard of the game was higher then than it has been since.

Lowering the limit would produce more good all-round players. Managers could not depend on extra players to fit certain kinds of pitching or bat whenever a sacrifice fly or the squeeze was needed.

Every player will be made to realize that he must include in his repertoire every angle of the game.

And then here is another angle.

America's manhood has been trained, under fire, to face fearlessly any condition that arises in war or peace.

General Pershing had no opportunity to halt a battle long enough to send in "bench-bitters" or sacrifice experts. The men who started the advance went through with it.

The men who fought over there and the men who were trained to fight over here will twin to see the players and managers show the same "go through with it" spirit in baseball.

The wide flung sweep of the world war in its action to sport penetrated beyond the Arctic Circle and the classic deer derbies have been abandoned until the return of normal time and conditions.

The long distance sweepstakes over the snow trails of the Seward Peninsula have been cancelled, according to the plans of the Nome kennel club. Thus the winter will pass without either the All-Alaska sweepstakes or the Solomon's sweepstakes, both formerly big events on the Alaska sport calendar.

Last winter only the dog-musher race was held. The All-Alaska prize money of last year, together with the purses for this year's race, will be given to the Red Cross or some other war work fund.

Although the big races are abandoned, dog drivers remaining in Nome for the winter will hold several short informal race meets during the long dark months coming. Possibly after the war the big races will be continued, then, in other years, the eyes of the Arctic sporting world will be centered on Nome every April when the mutinies begin at the whip's snap and tug at their sleds over the 412-mile All-Alaska trail to Chukle and back.

Thousands of dollars changed hands on the races every year. When Nome was at the height of the gold boom days the All-Alaska premium amounted to $10,000. Presently $20,000 was wagered on the result one year. Dog drivers sprung into the sporting spotlight as a result of skill and endurance on the frozen trails of the far north. Schuyler Allian, Leonard Stupka, John Johnson, Fred Detzen and others became known far out into the states by their victories in the big races.
